CLOSINGCORP NAMES CHRISTINE BORING AS CHIEF PRODUCT OFFICER

SAN DIEGO, Calif. March 04, 2021 – ClosingCorp®, a leading provider of residential real estate closing cost data and technology for the mortgage and real estate services industries, today announced that Christine (“Chris”) Boring has joined the company as chief product officer. In this new position, Boring will be primarily responsible for defining and executing the company’s product vision and strategy and leading product development and implementation efforts. She will report directly to ClosingCorp chief executive officer Bob Jennings.

Prior to joining ClosingCorp, Boring spent more than 12 years at Black Knight Financial Services, where she held a series of senior product and sales positions. Most recently, she was the senior vice president of Product Management where she was responsible for product and program management and overseeing Black Knight’s Ernst Fee Service solution. Previously, she was the senior vice president, business unit development where she oversaw Black Knight’s Exchange technology. Earlier in her career, she was the sales consulting manager where she led the team responsible for defining and implementing innovative client solutions. Boring began her career at Stewart Title where she was a client delivery manager.

“Chris is a proven leader who can collaborate with clients and prospects to better understand their evolving needs and continuously improve upon our products that reflect ClosingCorp’s mission and core value,” said Jennings. “Chris is joining at an important time in our company’s evolution. In the past year, we have broadened our product offerings, adding ordering functionality as well as significantly growing our volume, client count and market share. We are very excited to welcome

Chris to the ClosingCorp team.”
